

DEL AMITRI . . . storming up the charts with their new single, Nothing Ever Happens

Art at the flea market

DEL AMITRI have certainly suffered for their art. While promoting their smash-hit single Nothing Ever Happens on a recent TV show, they appeared between a guy making doughnuts and a FLEA expert.

But who cares? The song is storming up the charts – and rightly so.

Now the Del boys are on tour to promote their album Waking Hours, and you can see them tonight at Strathclyde University.

After that they play February dates at Inverness Ice Rink (5), Kirkcaldy Adam Smith (6), Galashiels College (8), Aberdeen Ritzy (21), Edinburgh Queens Hall (22), Dundee University (23) and Glasgow Pavilion (24).

Strong

“The album has been well received,” said singer Justin Currie.
